

National Student Survey (NSS)

The National Student Survey (NSS) is a national survey mainly aimed at undergraduates in their final year of study.

The NSS gives students a voice by providing them with a platform to share their honest feedback about their studying experience.

The survey is considered an influential source of public information as the results are often used to help shape the future of higher education institutions and their courses.

UKCBC Results

UKCBC participated in the NSS for the first time in 2017, and we are proud to reveal our score of 92.59% for overall student satisfaction - 8% higher than both the regional and sector average.
